

Nurse practitioners position statement

1. Purpose

This position statement sets out the qualifications, classifications and other specifications the Australian Nursing and Midwifery Federation (ANMF) considers should be in place to recognise and support the role of nurse practitioners. It should be read with the ANMF position statement: Medicare.

2. Definitions

A nurse practitioner is a registered nurse endorsed as a nurse practitioner by the Nursing and Midwifery Board of Australia (NMBA) under the Health Practitioner Regulation National Law Act 2009 (the National Law).¹ Nurse practitioners practice at an advanced level.

The title nurse practitioner is protected under the National Law, making it an offence for anyone to use the title unless authorised to do so under this legislation.²

Medicare is Australia's publicly funded universal healthcare insurance system. Medicare pays for the health services listed on the Medicare Benefits Schedule (MBS) and subsidises the cost of the medicines listed on the Pharmaceutical Benefits Scheme (PBS).

3. Context

Nurse practitioners are an integral part of the Australian health system. They work in a variety of contexts across diverse practice settings to deliver high-level clinical nursing care.

Drawing on current evidence-based knowledge, they use comprehensive assessment techniques in screening, diagnosis and treatment and:

- order and interpret diagnostic tests
- prescribe therapeutic interventions including medicines
- refer people to healthcare professionals for conditions that would benefit from integrated and collaborative care.

Nurse practitioners also actively participate in research, education and leadership as it applies to clinical care.

By extending and supporting the role of nurse practitioners, including providing full access to the MBS, governments and employers will improve individual and community health outcomes.³
